Insurance Council welcomes Home Building Inquiry Report

The Insurance Council today welcomed the release of the NSW Parliament's Upper House Committee report into the operations of the Home Building Service.

A submission was made by the Insurance Council to the Upper House enquiry identifying that the industry is working cooperatively with the NSW Government and the Office of Fair Trading to deliver an effective builders warranty scheme for the people of NSW.

The Insurance Council notes that the Committee acknowledged that significant advances had been made since 2003, particularly in the areas of licencing, complaint resolution and disciplining of builders.

The Insurance Council will now be considering the report's recommendations.
